DETERMINED GIRL.

An Irish Heiress Follows Her Lover and Marries Him.

A Romantic History of the Course of True Love That as Usual Did Not Run Smooth, But Turned Out All Right in the End.

New York, Oct. 21.—When the steerage passengers of the steamer City of Rome were landed at Castle Garden two men took positions close to the registry clerk's desk and eagerly scanned the face of each female immigrant as she passed by after having given her name and destination. The men, as the last immigrant was registered, looked disappointed, and finally went among the immigrants gathered in the rotunda. They asked queer questions, took many notes, and finally left the garden. No one knew their mission, nor could their actions furnish any clue, except, perhaps, that they were looking for a female criminal.

It appears, however, that the men, who were detectives, were searching for a young Irish heiress named Fanny O'Rourke. The story of Fanny's "crime," as the detectives were pleased to term it, is that about three years ago she fell in love with a young Irishman named John Fitzgerald, who lived in County Mayo, close by her father's estate. Mr. O'Rourke was rich and respected, while John was a poor farmer, and when Fanny declared that she loved John, the stern papa promptly notified the young lover that Fanny's expectations were such as to prevent her marrying a poor man, and he advised John to forget his sweetheart and choose for himself a wife among the poor country lasses. An uncle of Fanny died about this time and left her $5,000, which was to be placed in her hands when she became of age. Fanny was then nearing her nineteenth birthday, and upon hearing of her good fortune advised her lover to come to America and build a home, promising to come to him as soon as she secured the $5,000 on her twenty-first birthday.

John followed her advice, and about two years ago settled in Patterson, N. J., where he is at present earning good wages in a large silk factory. Upon his arrival here John sent Fanny a letter announcing his safe arrival, and in return received a sweet note stating that her father was endeavoring to marry her to a rich squire's son, but she declared that she would never marry any one but John Fitzgerald.

Since that time the two have corresponded regularly, and about one month ago John received a short note stating that his sweetheart would sail for America on the steamer City of Rome. Fanny's father, however, learned of his daughter's intention one day too late to intercept her, and he in consequence immediately cabled to some friend in this city to look out for her and send her back to Ireland. He thought that his daughter would come in the steamer under an assumed name, but no person resembling the description sent was found. The detectives concluded that Fanny had taken passage in the cabin of the ship, but they were too late to catch the runaway.

A dispatch was sent to Mr. O'Rourke in Ireland stating that his daughter had arrived and was met by Fitzgerald, who took her away in a carriage. The detectives gathered this intelligence from several cabmen, who informed them that upon the arrival of the City of Rome a young lady answering the description of Fanny O'Rourke had rushed down the gangway, and had been caught in the arms of a fair-haired Irishman whom the young lady had called "Dear John." When a cab was procured by the gentleman he had said while holding the door open "Step in, Fanny, my love," and had given the cabman orders to drive them to the "Chambers street ferry," and to do so "in a hurry." It is said that the young lady's father is immensely wealthy and is a large landowner in Ireland. Fanny is his only child and she was to have been the possessor of his fortune.

ZORA BURNS' MURDERER.

Arrest of the Wealthiest Man in the Town as the Assassin.

LINCOLN, Ill., Oct. 21.—The arrest of J. A. Carpenter, charged with the murder of Zora Burns, continues to be the all absorbing topic in conversation. The arrest was decided on after hearing the testimony of Rebecca Carpenter, of Decatur, at whose house Zora had been visiting previous to her last visit to Lincoln. On examination of Carpenter's luggage it was discovered that the cushions, lines and shafts were plainly marked with blood, and a warrant was immediately sworn out for his arrest. He was followed to the jail by a large and excited crowd. The chain of evidence grows stronger as the inquiry progresses, and all doubts are being rapidly removed from the minds of the citizens that he is guilty of the most horrible murder in the records of this county. Mr. Orvin v. Carpenter came to this place five years ago. He was born in the East. He is generally credited with being the wealthiest man in Lincoln. He owns his farm and a good deal of valuable land in the vicinity of the town. Since coming here he is known to have accumulated a fortune in the grain business. He owns a large elevator standing near the Chicago, St. Louis & Alton Railroad tracks. Mr. Carpenter has a wife and two daughters. The inquest was resumed at the court house. It is believed that matters will come to a crisis Monday, when Mr. Burns returns to St. Elmo. It may come sooner. The evidence before the jury was more grave and serious than any yet heard. Carpenter was on the stand and answered the questions with considerable hesitation and with much nervousness. At last he refused to answer any more. When his position was taken he was informed that he must appear at 9 o'clock in the morning or take the consequences. Another witness was the intimate friend and confidant of Zora Burns. She lives in Decatur, and her evidence was damaging to Carpenter in the extreme. She testified that Carpenter wrote Zora letters, and produced some of them. Although not signed, the handwriting is clearly identified as that of Carpenter's. She also said Carpenter had given Zora medicine for an abortion, but that it did not produce the desired result. Saturday morning the grand crash came, and it has maddened the citizens of this place. The excitement has gone to a pitch that knows no bounds. A warrant was issued and the accused was immediately arrested. Carpenter was searched, and everything affording a chance for suicide taken from him. He has not broken down, and quietly asked the officer in charge to look after his horse and buggy. It has been learned that Zora confessed her condition to Thomas Dukes, and of course he is wanted more than ever now. At the present writing no indications of mob law can be seen, although the officers have made every preparation for it.

Governor Hamilton has been telegraphed to for permission to call out company D, Fifth Regiment, I. N. G. in case of necessity. Hopes are entertained that Carpenter's standing heretofore will save him from mob vengeance. The book-keeper of Carpenter is now before the jury, and he has been examined for nearly an hour. His testimony is chiefly on Mr. Carpenter's habits, and whether or not he was at his office on Sunday evening posting books; also how often Zora called and how long she remained each time. The evidence is said to be against Carpenter, and little by little new links are being added to the chain of evidence which will be the means of bringing him to the gallows.

BUTLER'S AMBITION.

Massachusetts' Better Democratic Element Averse to His Presidential Plans.

Boston, Oct. 21.—Just why the Democrats keep ex-Mayor Prince's name at the head of the State ticket (next to Butler's, after his repeated declinations, is puzzling) many people to understand. The managers say that when Mr. Prince returns from Europe for a few days near the end of this month on private business, they will induce him to stand as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, but people whose relations with Mr. Prince are very much closer, declare that under no circumstances will the ex-mayor allow himself to be identified with the Butler movement, and the Governor and his political friends have been assured of this fact in a manner not to be misunderstood.

There is a type of Democracy in Massachusetts, of which Mr. Prince is a representative, who will not illuminate their dwellings on election night if Governor Butler should happen to be elected. They understand that his re-election would encourage him to come to the Mechanics Hall dodge on the next National Democratic Convention.

However ridiculous the Governor's candidacy may be regarded for the Presidency, even if he carried Massachusetts again, yet it is understood that he seriously contemplates such a movement. Mr. Prince will renew his declination and probably get rid of the Butler committee as easily and gracefully as possible. The political work of Mr. Prince, when he comes home, will be arranging for the next National Democratic Convention, which is likely to be in Boston. Before Mr. Prince went to Europe he sent out circulars to all the members of the committee of which he has so long been secretary, urging this city's claims.

During his absence nearly a majority of the committee have answered in favor of Boston and the balance of the committee are undecided. The question will be decided in Washington on the 22d of February. Mr. Prince's name will be urged as a candidate for the vice-presidency, and in this fact very likely lies the explanation of Mr. Prince's persistent refusal to identify himself with Butlerism.

A RICH SCHEME.

How Mr. Gardner of Indianapolis Colored Money.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 21.—Special agents of the Postoffice Department have been for some time engaged in investigating the affairs of T. C. Gordon & Co., who were believed to be using the mails for fraudulent purposes, and have caused warrants to be issued for the arrest of B. L. Gardner, who constituted the firm. The scheme was a brilliant one. He issued thousands of circulars and dodgers all over the country, advertising for sale a combined barometer and thermometer which the firm would send prepaid on receipt of twenty-eight cents. For several weeks the mail of Gordon & Co. averaged from 700 to 1400 letters daily, each, it is reasonable to suppose, containing the price of a thermometer. By-and-bye it was learned that no instruments were being sent and the attention of the Department was called to the firm's transactions. A day or two ago Gardner learned that detectives were at work on the case and left between two days. Since then 2,000 or 3,000 letters have accumulated for him. He is said to be an ex-hewspaper man and a dead beat and swindler. He made a rich haul in this city.

Losses by Careless Use of Matches.

New York, Oct. 21.—A table, in the interest of the fire insurance companies has appeared presenting the annual loss in the United States resulting from the careless use of matches. A record of 133 noteworthy fires caused in this way during the year ending with June, 1883, showed a property loss of $111,530, and an insurance loss of $211,685. These sums were believed to represent only about three-fifths of the actual loss by match fires, which was estimated at fully $700,000 annually. At $700,000 the loss from matches alone is greater than the annual loss by fire of twenty-one States and territories, and is about equal to the fire losses of Mississippi or North Carolina, or of Oregon. If the comparison be made in another way it will be found to be equal to the aggregate fire loss of eight States and territories.

KILLED BY GAS.

A Pennsylvanian's Novel Idea of Committing Suicide.

Closing the Windows and Doors and Deliberately Allowing Gas to Pour Into the Room Until Suffocation Ensues.

New York, Oct. 21.—A death by suffocation from the inhalation of illuminating gas, the surroundings of which point to a case of deliberate suicide, took place at Hartman's Hotel, No. 47 Bowery. The hotel is in the building jointly occupied by the Windsor Theatre. About midnight of Thursday a tall, thin man, apparently about thirty years old, entered the hotel office and asked for a room. He registered as H. Greenberg, Pennsylvania. He was assigned to room No. 33, on the fourth floor, and a man conducted him there. He was cautioned about blowing out the gas, and he replied that he was thoroughly conversant with the management of a gas jet and needed no instructions. He then retired for the night.

About 11 o'clock in the morning, while a chambermaid was passing near the room, she detected the odor of gas and tried the doors of various rooms. All were open save that occupied by Greenberg. All the gas jets were shut off in the vacant rooms, and she alarmed the clerk, who opened Greenberg's room. There he found the man in a bed, cold in death. The gas was escaping from the jet, which was turned on and the atmosphere was almost suffocating. An alarm was sent out and the Coroner was notified. Coroner Martin responded, and after viewing the remains had them removed to the Morgue.

It was evident that the man had been dead about five hours. From letters and papers found in his clothes it was learned that he was a brother named Marcus Greenberg, living at No. 53 Richmond street, Boston.

The dead man was respectfully attired, and in his vest pocket was a gold watch to which was attached a gold chain. Mr. Hartman, the proprietor of the hotel, telegraphed to the brother of the dead man, but has as yet received no reply.

NEW YORK'S NEW THEATRE

Opening of the Great Metropolitan Opera House.

New York, Oct. 21.—Everything is now in readiness for the opening of the Metropolitan Opera House this evening. The last of the seats in the vast auditorium were placed in position this morning. The floor of the orchestra enclosure was raised in compliance with the wishes of Signor Vianesi, and the gigantic circle of gas lights has been raised to its position in the dome like roof and was lighted Saturday evening with excellent effect. The cast for Monday night will be as follows: Faust, Campanini; Valentine, Del Puente; Marguerite, Nilsson; Siebel, Scelchi; Mephistopheles, Navarra. The only change is the omission of Mme. La Blanche's name from the programme. Del Puente will sing at the house on the first night at all events. How the engagements of these artists will ultimately be arranged cannot now be determined as both the cases are still before the Supreme Court.

Counterfeiters Arrested.

MOBILE, Oct. 21.—An arrest has been made in this city of a gang of skillful counterfeiters who have been operating in this neighborhood for some time past with great success, owing to the excellence of their work. A large amount of material used by them in the manufacture of spurious one dollar coins was captured. The gang had been followed for some time by detectives from New Orleans and Louisville, and the arrest is regarded as one of the most important ever made in this State.

Unlucky Anna Dickinson.

DETROIT, Oct. 21.—Anna Dickinson's theatrical season in the interior of Michigan has been spoiled by the faithlessness of her manager, Wentworth, who has skipped out and abandoned the company to take care of itself. The dates at Kalamazoo and several large towns had to be canceled. Mr. Hunting, a member of the company, assumes its management. It is understood that Miss Dickinson will drop "Hamlet" and place most reliance on the character of "Anne Boleyn."

A Bad Barkley.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 21.—Deacon W. S. Bronson, an Aylum street stove dealer and President of the Connecticut Baptist Society, was assaulted last night by James Pinney, a negro employed in his store, who intended to rob him. Pinney used a heavy chair-leg and told the police he meant to kill Bronson. It is claimed that Pinney is insane on religious subjects. Prompt assistance frustrated his design and Bronson escaped with a bad flesh wound on the arm.

Terrible Boiler Explosion.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Iowa, Oct. 21.—The boiler of Ross Bros' planing mill exploded with terrible results this morning. An employe named Beckwith was blown to atoms, and another named Thomas is dying in great agony. Five other men are more or less dangerously scalded and bruised. The mill was utterly demolished, incurring a loss of some $3,000. Every window glass in the village was shattered, and the buildings shook with the concussion. The cause of the disaster is unknown.

The Herald and the Newsdealers.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 21.—At a meeting of the Central News Dealers Union of Brooklyn and the Williamsburg News Dealers Association last night, it was decided that two-thirds of a cent should be the margin of profit demanded in case the Herald was inclined to compromise. g

ABOUT PENSIONS.

Summary of Commissioner Dudley's Recent Report.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—The annual report of Pension Commissioner Dudley, submitted to the Secretary today, shows that at the close of the fiscal year there were 303,658 pensioners on the rolls. There was added to the roll during the year the names of 33,162 new pensioners and 796 whose pensions had been dropped were restored, making an aggregate of 33,958 pensions added during the year, being an excess of 10,645 over the number added the previous fiscal year. The names of 20,997 were dropped during the year for various causes, leaving a net increase of 17,961 pensioners. The aggregate value of all pensions was $32,245,192, an increase over the value of the previous year of $2,904,090; $29,006,753 was used in paying arrearages, thus swelling the payments much beyond the annual value. Since 1861, 889,157 pension claims were filed, of which number 510,938 were allowed. During the same period there have been paid for pensions, with cost of disbursements, the sum $621,000,000. The Commissioner asserts that his expectations have been more than realized in the efficiency of the clerical force and the work of the office has been practically brought up to date. On July 15, 1883, the office was practically up with current work. That is to say, every case involving arrears filed prior to July 1, 1880, and, with few exceptions, all filed subsequent to July 1, 1880, and not involving arrears, had been examined. Those ready for settlement had been settled. Those awaiting proper calls for evidence were attended to, and it was found that nothing further could be done in 235,000 claims out of a total of 244,000 pending. He thinks that the force may be considerably reduced July 1, 1884. The amount required for the payment of pensioners during the next two years will depend upon their diligence in furnishing evidence. Commissioner Dudley recommends that the laws be amended so as to include scouts, and suggests that the grading of pensions be remodeled on the basis of disability rather than rank. He urges an amendment to the laws which will not make it necessary for a mother to show that a son contributed to her support in order to obtain a pension on account of his death.

NEW SILVER VAULTS.

The Work at the Treasury Department Rapidly Progressing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Work is progressing upon the new silver vaults in the treasury. The receptacle to be prepared for the dollar no one seems to want is way down in the darkness of the sub-cellar. The silver will rest on a floor laid on the ground, on a level with the lowest foundations of the great building, a story below the present basement. The vault will be exactly under the present cash-room, and will equal it in extent. It is to hold $10,000,000. The stock on hand continues to increase, and there is frequent application from the various sub-treasurers to be relieved of a part of the accumulation. Shipments of this kind come to hand daily. Just now 400,000 of the dollars are being carted to Washington from Boston, owing to the insecurity of the vaults there and the excessive supply compared with the storage room. It is intended when this vault is completed to divide the surplus silver mainly between this place and New Orleans, where the capacity of the storage room is $28,000,000. Mr. Wyman thinks it will only be a question of time when all the dollars will have to be coined over again, and he thinks the present system will probably go on for two years yet.

River and Harbor Improvements.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The engineer officers of the War Department estimate that $35,000,000 can be expended to advantage for river and harbor improvements during the next fiscal year. At the first session of the Forty-seventh Congress $18,988,875 were voted for river and harbor improvements. The voters rebelled at this expenditure, and the result of the congressional elections was such as to prevent Congress, at its last session, from passing a river and harbor bill. For the next fiscal year the engineers ask an appropriation of $3,000,000 for the improvement of the Mississippi River. The Secretary of War, who revises the engineers' estimate, will probably recommend an appropriation much less in amount than the engineers' request.

Kisses at a Cent Apiece.

EASTON, Oct. 21.—In June, 1881, Mary Ann Miller brought suit against Stephen Beck for breach of promise of marriage, and the case terminated in the lower court. Miss Miller is a tall slender woman of forty years. Beck is somewhat older, and married. He promised, so the plaintiff and a traveling tailor proved to the jury's satisfaction, to marry Miss Miller, who was his housekeeper, but after five months deserted her. She said he had kissed her "a little more than 100,000 times," and the jury gave her a cent for a kiss, or a total verdict for $1,008 33.

The Injunction on Del Puente's Voice.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The application of Colonel Mapleson to restrain Signor Del Puente from singing with Mr. Abbey's company was heard by Judge Gorman. A letter from Del Puente dated February last, with the conclusion, "A thousand affectionate salutes from your affectionate friend," was read. There was some dispute between the lawyers about the terms of the contract. No decision was rendered.

A Greenback Complaint Dismissed.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 21.—The bill filed some months ago by John K. Besley, late Greenback candidate for governor, seeking to enjoin the funding board from carrying out provisions of the 53 bill, was to-day dismissed for want of equity on its face. The court declined to consider the point as to the legality of the bonds, as this had been frequently passed on by the Supreme Court.

Compulsory attendance at school in England appears to be a moral success. In 1869 English boys and girls to the number of 10,314 were convicted of crime. In 1876 the number of convictions was reduced to 7,212, and last year to 5,483. This shows that during the last fifteen years the number of juvenile crimes has diminished about one-half, and compulsory attendance at school gets the credit for bringing about the gratifying change.

The Colored Baptists in convention at Wyandot, Kansas, representing a number of the Western States and territories adopted resolutions protesting against the late decision of the Supreme Court on civil rights. They charge the responsibility of the decision upon the Republican party, and give notice to all political parties in a very general way that they intend to hold whatever ground they command as enfranchised American citizens.

PROGRESSIVE public opinion and the natural instincts of humanity and fair play to all are doing more for the plain rights of the colored people than the Civil Rights bill ever did or could do by force of legislation. Hence there is less reason for regret than would have been the case under other circumstances, that the present condition of the law obliged the Supreme Court of the United States to declare certain sections of the "Civil Rights" act of Congress to be unwarranted by the Constitution.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says: Kentucky justice is sometimes almost as swift as the New Jersey article. In Frankfort two colored men were placed on trial at 2 p. m. for house-breaking. At 4 o'clock they were being put at work in the penitentiary.

CAIRO, Ill., Oct. 21.—Sheriff Haskins, of Osceola, Ark., together with Mount City Marshal Ross and Deputy Sheriff Painter effected the arrest of an Arkansas desperado named J. P. Maupin, near Villard, who is wanted in Arkansas for grand larceny, and about all the other crimes in the calendar. Maupin was out on bail, having been indicted for grand larceny, and suddenly disappeared. His wife swore he was drowned, and soon after came to Villard to join the fugitive. Having been closely watched by officers, she was followed and her husband apprehended. Hastings being prepared with a requisition, the prisoner was taken to Osceola immediately.

Missouri Granite.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—The Supervising Architect of the Treasury received a sample of Missouri granite in connection with a bid of a granite company in St. Louis on the Pittsburg public building. This particular variety of stone attracted considerable attention in the Architect's office, and Mr. Hill pronounces it the finest specimen of building stone he has ever seen. It is deemed chiefly remarkable for its dark, rich color and susceptibility of polish. Mr. Hill thinks the Pittsburg building should be granite, and from the lively competition and low prices seems it not improbable that it will yet be so.

True if Important.
CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A special from Lisbon, Dakota, says that H. W. Griswold, E. P. Baker, W. F. Sargent, and Dr. Geo. C. Fry, all of Chicago, have just astonished the natives by opening up a rich gold discovery in a ledge of rocks in a gulch nine miles west of Lisbon. The gold was discovered about three months ago, but kept secret until now. Capitalists from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Fargo, and Grand Forks have arrived. The wildest excitement prevails. One hundred and twenty assays have been made of samples, some assaying $210 and averaging $25 or $30 to the ton.

A Railroad War.
CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—There seems to be no way out of what looks like an inevitable war over passenger rates between New York and Chicago. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western is in position to fight. Its connection to Buffalo is pronounced by railroad men one of the finest roads in the country. Samuel Sloan, the President of the Company, is generally regarded as an aggressive man, and he has brought that corporation up to a solid basis financially, so that it means to push its way to the front and command no small share of the business of the trunk lines. The war once commenced, it will extend both ways.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

MONDAY EVE., OCTOBER 22, 1883.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
To whom address all communications.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mrs. Laura Bateman—Boarders wanted.
Wanted—Servant girl.
Kentucky Central—Excursion.
Wanted—Washer and ironer.
Wanted—A cook.

Mr. Mitchell begs us say
To all the "prattle alters"
When they call, they won't be fed
On any common "taters."

The river is rising to-day.

Are you getting ready to vote against the hog?

The question to be considered by Maysville people is hog-wallows or no hog-wallows.

The Masonic Mutual Benefit Association has paid to the widow of the late F. M. Martin, of this city, the sum of $1,001.

If you would have appetite, flesh, color, strength and vigor, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which will confer them upon you in rapid succession.

Rev. F. J. Crisp, of Carrollton, Ky., will commence a meeting at the Baptist Church on next Sunday, October 28th, and will preach every evening during the following week.

The trial of Hooker Stivers for killing Bert Scully, which has been in progress for a week in the Paris Circuit Court, ended Saturday. Stivers was adjudged guilty of manslaughter and was sent to the penitentiary for ten years.

MAYSLICK this week comes to the front with the finest potatoes exhibited this season. They are of the Peach Blow, Early Rose, and Ben Longnecker varieties, and were grown on the place of Mr. J. M. Mitchell. They are unusually large and fine.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette is the authority for the following statement: A young couple who are well to do, and not immoral, are said to have been recently married in an entire nude condition in Fleming county. They wished to imitate the fashion of Eden.

In consequence of his largely increased patronage, Prof. C. J. Hall has had his school room refurnished. Messrs. White & Ort have just supplied him with the Excelsior school desk, one of the best manufactured. There is now no more pleasant and tidy school room in the city.

As will be seen by an announcement elsewhere, the Kentucky Central has adopted the BULLETIN's suggestion, and there will be another excursion at a cheap rate, from this city to Louisville on the 25th inst. The tickets will be good to return on any regular train for five days from the date of sale. There is no doubt that many persons will go from this vicinity as it will probably be the last opportunity they will have.

On Saturday Judge Perkins opened the Bracken County Criminal Court and began the trial of Young Smith for the murder of Myers. The case was given to the jury in the afternoon and in a short time they brought in a verdict of guilty and fixed the punishment in the penitentiary for life. A motion for a new trial of Brockman and a proposition by the girl he ravished to marry him were overruled and the right of marriage denied. Thus the last hope of Brockman's friends was blasted.

Tony Deuler.

This fine pantomime company which is everywhere admitted to be the best in the country will appear at Washington Opera House next Thursday evening. The following notice of the troupe is from the New York World:

Crowded houses and standing room only, has been the rule of the week at the Windsor Theatre, where Tony Deuler's splendid pantomime company is at present playing. On Monday night there were 1,084 tickets sold for the top gallery, which is only calculated to seat 400 persons, but they got stowed away in some manner best known to themselves. On Tuesday, every seat in this large theatre was occupied long before eight o'clock. It is needless to criticize a performance given by Tony Deuler, as the public has long since become aware that his entertainments are par excellence, hence the crowds.

Last Saturday night Messrs. Sutton, Hauser and Shelton, of Aberdeen, left the wharf in a skiff in which the former two had safely crossed the river. When a short distance from the landing the boat began to leak and in a few minutes sunk, leaving the occupants struggling in the water. Their cries for help were responded to by Captain George Thompson and Messrs. W. W. Watkins and Stanley Porter, who arrived in time to save the men in an exhausted condition. Capt. Thompson has been fortunate in saving human life, this being the seventh time he has rescued persons from drowning. A life-saving medal might be meritoriously awarded to him.

MURDER WILL OUT.

A Dying Woman Confesses to the Murder of two Men, for one of Which an Innocent Man was Lynched.

On Thursday, September 22, 1878, Ned Trumbo, an inoffensive colored man, was shot dead in his own door in Flemingsburg. The assassination created great excitement, and rewards aggregating $6,500 were offered for the arrest and conviction of the murderers. Charles Hopper, a citizen of Flemingsburg, was arrested on suspicion, and kept in jail five months, but the evidence before the grand jury was deemed insufficient, and he was released. James Monroe Emmons was also arrested and indicted by the grand jury, but the evidence, which was altogether of a circumstantial character, was weak enough to acquit him. The reason of the arrest of the foregoing was that he had been paying a great deal of attention to a woman named Lilly Walker, who was staying at Trumbo's house. The woman was accidentally shot in Johnson county, this State, last week, and on being told by her physician that her wound was surely mortal, she made the following confession:

My name is Mary Ganole, but I have called myself Lilly Walker. I am now in my thirty-eighth year, and have followed my present life since my fifteenth year, when I was seduced by George Radcliffe, whom I killed as soon as I learned of his perjury to me, and buried his body in a sawdust pile on Red River, in Meade county, within three hundred yards of where his father's house stood. When his body was found, Frank Tompkins, who had left the county about the time of Radcliffe's disappearance, and had gone to Greensburg, Ky., was suspected, and an armed party went to capture him, and he surrendered without any resistance. A mob hanged him in front of Frenchburg jail before his trial could come on. My tips were sealed, as to make a noise then was to accuse myself.

I went to Flemingsburg immediately following his lynching, and have nothing to live for myself, resolved to make a name for some and unpleasant as I could for the rest of mankind. Hopper and Emmons both were steady company of mine while I was staying at the Trumbo House, and both were jealous of each other. Feeling Emmons pass the door one night I started to call him, but he either did not hear me or did not want to hear me and rode on. This made me very mad, and, having a pistol in my pocket, I fired at old Ned. Why I did so I do not know. Suspicion was once directed to Hopper, who was thrown in jail, and told that he had been hanged, but he was never pleased if they had hanged him. I could not appear against him, because I was afraid I might myself get caught. My life since then has been the usual one of abandoned women until I met George Frankton here, to whom I represented myself as good and virtuous, and he, seeing me in company with Dock Martwell, Monday night, shot me.

The woman died Tuesday night, and by her confession solves a mystery which for five years has been unexplained.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Two Men try to Kill Editor McCartney, of Flemingsburg.

SPECIAL to the DAILY BULLETIN. FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., October 22.—Two men, Saturday night, on the corner of Main and Water streets, attempted to assassinate Charles McCartney, editor of the Gazette. McCartney answered them with two shots from a thirty-two-calibre revolver. One of them, James T. Tenwell, is supposed to be mortally wounded, and the other, Frank L. Thompson, is shot through the right lung. The latter may recover.

Acquitted.

SPECIAL to DAILY BULLETIN. AUGUSTA, Ky., October 22, 1883.—Joe Snodgrass, the last of the three young men implicated in the Myers murder, had his trial on Saturday and was acquitted. Young Hastings, an employe in Moneyhon, Kearns & Co.'s saw mill had three fingers cut off by a circular saw on Saturday evening.

CLERICAL SCAMP.

Further About Rev. Nixon's Very Bad Break.

Ind. Downfall of a Young Clergyman—Dropping Step by Step in the Moral Scale and Finally Ending Up as a Thief.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—The Rev. Frederick B. Nixon, of 2204 Ontario street, went to jail and will have a hearing before Magistrate Martin on Wednesday on a charge of larceny. Mr. Nixon is a young clergyman who is accused of having wandered from the paths of virtue to enter on a life of sin. He is twenty-five years of age, and recently graduated at a theological seminary with high honors. His first charge was a Conshohocken Methodist Church. Mr. Nixon seemed to devote more attention to the young girls of Conshohocken than to his church, and gossips spread the information that the youthful divine was a little wild. The church members took the usual steps and an investigation was undertaken.

Mr. Nixon was soon afterwards requested to resign, and when he hesitated was dismissed in disgrace. The disgraced ex-pastor found relief in dissipation, but he made several efforts to reform. Finally he came to this city and started off on a spree with John Smith, a young bartender, of No. 812 Vine street. They ate, drank and were merry, and late at night staggered into Beaver's den.

When the bartender and preacher left Smith missed $30, which he claims to have had when he started out with his companion. He accused Mr. Nixon of taking the money, and instructed the police to arrest the man. Special Officer Tate took the lured clergyman into custody, and he was coked up. Owing to the absence of testimony, the prisoner was held for a further hearing. It is said that one of Beaver's women will testify that she saw the accused man remove Smith's money from his pocket. Mr. Nixon emphatically denies that he took the cash, and declares that he will be able to prove his innocence.

CORRY'S REPUDIATED BONDS

The Ruling of the Arbitrator Not Accepted by the Shareholders.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 21.—The holders of the bonds issued by Corry City Council ten years ago as bonus to manufacturing establishments, and which the city authorities now repudiate, are not inclined to accept the ruling of legal arbitrator E. L. Whittlesey, who sustained the city in its refusal to meet the bonds, amounting to something over $100,000.

Exceptions have been filed to the report of the arbitrator, and the case will eventually go to the Supreme Court. Ohio parties who own several thousand dollars worth of the bonds which the city of Corry were illegally issued, not having been given for any municipal purpose, will bring action in the United States Court, and will claim a precedent in the ruling of Judge McKenna, of the United States Circuit Court, in a similar case and on the same bonds, wherein he ruled that the city of Corry was liable for the face of the bonds in question.

A Bullet in the Brain.

SHAWNEETOWN, Ill., Oct. 21.—A shooting affray occurred at a dance among the colored folks in our city at 11 o'clock last night. Henry Acres was shot twice through the head, and lived until 10 o'clock to-day. Robert Norman received a shot in the left arm. Revolvers were freely used by several persons, and it is hard to tell who did the fatal work. Three of the shooters are now in jail—Wm. Johnson, Joe Barger and Robert Norman. The others engaged in the affray, two or three in number, are still at large.

Title to Texas Land in Dispute.

PALESTINE, Tex., Oct. 21.—Suit was begun here to-day involving about $100,000 worth of land lying in the outskirts of Palestine, owned by more than one hundred parties, who were served with summons this morning. The land is part of the John Arthur Headright claim, and is claimed by the heirs of Stephen Box on the ground that their mother, the wife of Box, sold it years ago without being appointed executrix or having any power to sell the property. It has since gone through many hands, and is now cut into residence lots owned by small holders. The suit causes much excitement.

Charged With Kidnapping a Girl.

VINCENNES, Ind., Oct. 21.—Oliver H. Kable and Edward Piper, of Carlisle, are under arrest for the alleged kidnapping, on October 9, of Miss Tillie Worthman, a young girl sixteen years of age, who had been living with Mrs. Emeline Vance, near Carlisle, fifteen miles north of this city. All efforts to find the girl have been futile. She disappeared on the night of October 9, and has not been seen or heard of since. Piper and Kable are under $400 bonds each.

About Transfer of Bonds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—The Secretary of the Treasury has issued a circular relative to the transfer of United States registered bonds in which he stated, after quoting the regulations now in force, that in all cases the copy of the resolution furnished the Department must be certified by some officer of the corporation, company or institution other than one empowered to assign the bonds.

A Queer Stock Transaction.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A Philadelphia house, having an office here, loaned Northern Pacific preferred at 4 per cent. here, which they borrowed in Philadelphia flat, and sent the stock by messenger on a special locomotive. The run was made from Philadelphia in one hour and forty-two minutes.

The Pueblo Land Grant.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—Secretary Teller has removed the suspension placed upon his decision of last July in the Pueblo land grant of San Francisco, modifying the decision in some unimportant particulars so as to give contesting parties a standing in court.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needed for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfillment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction. The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.
